Rose Enders, Fearing Truant Officer, Takes Car-

bolic Acid.

hoolgirl, to-day attempted suicide by taking carbolic acid in her home, No. 48 Wyckoff sireet, Williamsburg. Fear of the truant officer is the reason she gave. Quick action on the part of the ambulance surgeon from the German Hospital and the fact that the carbolle solution was weak balked her altempt, and she will probably be in condition to be arraigned to-morrow before Magistrate Dooley in Ewing street

The story of Rose's attempt to end a life that held nothing for her but constant daily drudgery, broken intermitfently by such schooling as the truant officers could enforce is a dark page of human misery. Her father died of con-sumption three years ago, leaving his numbtion three years ago, leaving his wife Lena, their three dauritiers. Mary, now sixteen years old, Rose, twelve, and little Lena, who is a toddler of four, together with the old grandmother. Mrs. Endres has made a hard struggle for existence, working as a junitress only to lose one place after another.

Her maager wage as junitress of No. 48 Wyckon was insufficient, but by working from morning until night the whole family, from grandmother to baby girl, were able to make 40 cents a day stringing beads. This work kept Rose from school off and on and finally for almost two weeks entirelyfi. She delivered the work to the woman who hamiled it to-daw and was late for echool. A schoolmate met her and told her that the truant officers were looking for her.

Coming home the girl went into a room apart from the busy bead stringers and securing a carboile solution used in the house-leaning and which her mother had warned her meant death the girl drank a deep draught. Dr. Prescht, from the German Hospital, applied emetics and took the girl a prisoner to the hospital.
